On December 12, 1968, I gave a talk to a meeting of doctors and lawyers in San Jose, California. * Naturally, I was asked to speak on some subject that would interest both groups. Some instinct told me that medical malpractice suits might interest both but would nevertheless not be a useful topic. I spoke on genetic engineering instead, therefore, and, toward the end, discussed the matter of cloning. Jack nodded, "I have thought about it." She waited for a long time. "I think the chances are about a thousand to one. The usher continued to hover, smiling, over his chair. Finally Barry realized he was waiting for a tip. Without any idea of what was customary, he gave bun a dollar, which seemed to do the trick.
